Saba's Positive Impact on the UK Trust Market

Saba's Wins for UK Trust Shareholders This Past Year

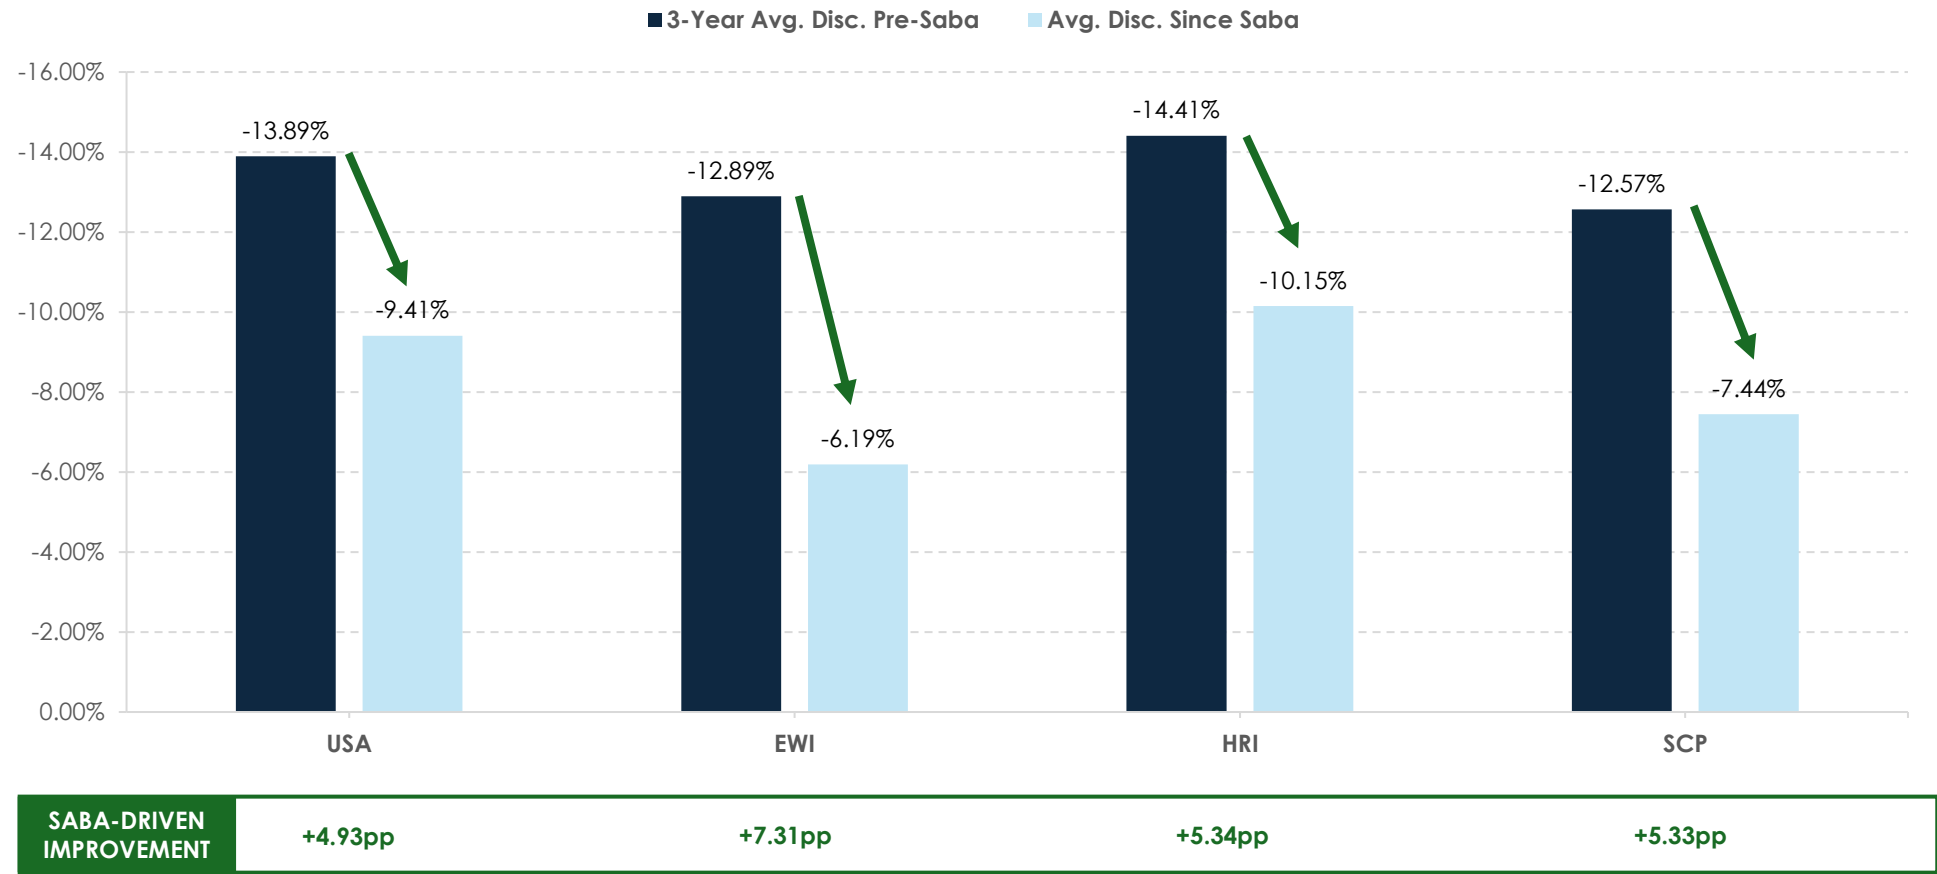

We have worked together with the Boards of six UK investment trusts to help deliver shareholder-friendly outcomes that allowed thousands of retail investors to exit at or near Net Asset Value ("NAV") over the past 12 months.

Saba's Involvement Means Shareholders Win No Matter What

Saba's engagement has narrowed the discount at all the trusts from its campaigns launched in December 2024 and February 2025 – even the four trusts whose Boards have failed to deliver an exit to shareholders at NAV.

Recap: Why We Called Another General Meeting

We have been profoundly disappointed with the Company's share price performance for some time, which led us to requisition a general meeting nearly a year ago.

At that time, EWI vigorously rejected our legitimate concerns and encouraged shareholders to dismiss them, imploping them to “Protect Your Trust” and promising to “deliver the performance our shareholders rightly expect.”¹

Since then, however, the Board has objectively and categorically failed to execute that job.

Over the past five years, the Company's NAV return of -30.6% and Share Price return of -35.6% have massively underperformed the FTSE All-Share Index (+73.7%) by more than 100 percentage points.²

EWI's Board has demonstrated a lack of decisive action to improve the Company's share price and narrow its persistent discount to NAV.

We do not have faith in the current Board's ability to implement the necessary strategic changes and feel a duty to our fellow shareholders to drive improvements – hence why we have proposed new director candidates to replace the current Board.

Saba’s Interests Are More Aligned With Shareholders Than the Current Board

Saba has more capital invested in the success of EWI than all of the current directors combined. We also note that the directors have not purchased additional shares of EWI since 2023, which creates a disconnect with investors.¹

Timeline of Key Events

EWI's Board does not have shareholders' best interests at heart, as evidenced by its lack of decisive action to improve the Company's lagging share price and its attempt to push through a merger that would entrench Baillie Gifford at shareholders' expense.

EWI Has Not Done Enough Over the Past Year to Improve Its Lagging Share Price

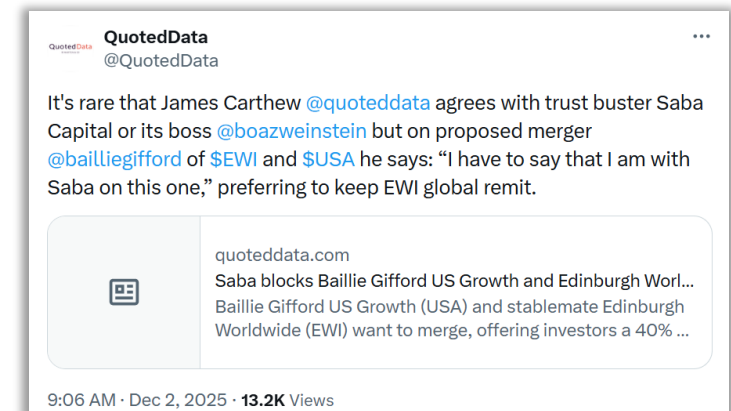

Subject	Mark	Reason
Discount Management	D	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> EWI's narrower discount is in large part due to Saba's continued buying of shares.

Why We Oppose EWI's Proposed Merger With Baillie Gifford US Growth Trust PLC

- ✗ The proposal only provides a cash exit to 40% of shareholders at an undisclosed discount to NAV and does not include a path for consistent exit opportunities going forward.
- ✗ EWI and USA sold 1/3 of their SpaceX shares at a price massively lower than SpaceX's reported $1.5 trillion IPO valuation, just to prepare for their bad merger – not because it served their investors' economic interests.
- ✗ USA and EWI have clear differences: EWI can invest globally, while USA is confined to the North American market.
- ✗ The merger would concentrate power in Baillie Gifford's hands; it's unclear whether the Board assessed potential mergers with non-Baillie Gifford trusts.
- ✗ The merger does not provide instant liquidity for EWI and USA's significant portions of unlisted, illiquid assets.
- ✗ The merger required Saba to sign a standstill that presumably would have included other Baillie Gifford trusts and protected Baillie Gifford's interests at the expense of shareholders.

The Sell-Side Analyst Community Also Disapproves of the Deal

By pushing for a merger that benefits Baillie Gifford rather than shareholders, EWI's Board has confirmed where its loyalties truly lie. Shareholders deserve a Board that puts them first — not another cosy deal that entrenches an unaccountable manager.

Source: Publicly available materials.

What Happened to SpaceX: How EWI Mishandled Its Crown Jewel

SpaceX is the asset that should define EWI's success, yet shareholders now risk missing much of its future upside due to poor decision-making.

- 1 EWI's exposure to SpaceX is one of the main reasons many shareholders own the Company. However, roughly two months ago, Baillie Gifford dumped about 1/3 of the SpaceX shares held in EWI and another trust.
- 2 The sell-down was executed at a level massively lower than SpaceX's reported $1.5 trillion IPO valuation and without a consultation of EWI investors.
- 3 Baillie Gifford only significantly trimmed its SpaceX stake in the two investment trusts it was hoping to merge, EWI and USA, which would only benefit the manager.¹
- 4 This short-sighted action demonstrates how Baillie Gifford sought to put its own commercial interests ahead of investors – something the Board should does not appear to be investigating.
- 5 We estimate that the sale of the SpaceX stock has already cost shareholders of EWI £37 million.²

The SpaceX debacle highlights the need for shareholders to elect new directors who will advocate for the best interests of EWI investors and serve as a check on the manager.

The Facts About Saba's Campaign to Deliver Value for ALL EWI Shareholders

- Instead of confronting years of value destruction or taking action to investigate Baillie Gifford's recent mishandling of EWI's SpaceX position, the Board is attacking its largest shareholder for daring to seek accountability.
 - We are attempting to replace an entrenched Board that has overseen massive underperformance with new, qualified independent directors committed to delivering improved performance for all shareholders.
 - The directors we have nominated have no connection to Saba and, if elected, will not serve under the thumb of any shareholder – or the investment manager.
- As stated in our 3 December press release, all decisions about the future of EWI will be made solely by the new, experienced and independent Board – not Saba.
 - If elected, the new directors will have the sole mandate of maximising value for all shareholders, including evaluating the merits of all potential avenues to do so.

EWI's Attempts to Mislead Shareholders About Saba's Campaign

"Your Board remains fully committed to maximising long-term value for ALL shareholders." Link

"Saba has no interest in alternative strategies that would benefit all shareholders." Link

The Facts About Saba's Campaign to Deliver Value for ALL EWI Shareholders

- EWI's net asset value and share price returns have materially underperformed relevant benchmarks over the past three and five years.
- The incumbent Board members – including Chair Jonathan Simpson-Dent, who has served since 2020 – have clearly failed to rigorously oversee the Company's portfolio managers.
- One year of slightly improved performance does not absolve the Board of accountability and does not account for the underperformance over the course of the directors' tenures.
- The Board's proposed merger with another Baillie Gifford investment trust would only concentrate power in the manager's hands at shareholders' expense.
- To force through its bad, self-interested merger, Baillie Gifford sought to muzzle Saba via a standstill that would prevent us from advocating for shareholders' interests.
- The only answer for EWI's underperformance is to hold the Board accountable by electing new directors to represent shareholders' interests.

EWI's Attempts to Mislead Shareholders About Saba's Campaign

"As announced on 16 December 2025, the valuation of SpaceX was adjusted upwards and now makes up 15.9% of the Company's total assets as at 15 December 2025." Link

The Facts About Saba's Campaign to Deliver Value for ALL EWI Shareholders

- SpaceX is the asset that should define EWI's success, yet shareholders now risk missing much of its future upside because of Baillie Gifford's self-interested actions.
- The Board has failed to explain why Baillie Gifford slashed EWI and USA's stake in SpaceX by approximately 1/3 – at a massively lower valuation than its reported $1.5 trillion IPO valuation.
- We believe the SpaceX sell-down was initiated solely to facilitate the proposed merger between EWI and USA – as no other Baillie Gifford trusts reduced their stakes in SpaceX.
- This is clear evidence of the need for new directors who will advocate for the best interests of EWI investors – and serve as a check on the manager.

The Current Board Is Obstructing Our Access and Undermining Shareholder Democracy

The Board attempted to prevent us from reaching shareholders, making it incredibly difficult for shareholders to fairly assess Saba's proposals before casting their votes.

- ✗ When we first requested the shareholder register in order to share information with our fellow shareholders, as is our statutory right and normal course in an election contest, EWI, by way of its share registrar, took 13 days to send us a shareholder register, which once received, was missing key details such as street addresses, making outreach virtually impossible.
- ✗ After we pushed back, EWI eventually shared the full shareholder register – but only in formats that made the process of extracting basic information extraordinarily onerous.
- ✗ While unfairly delaying our access to the shareholder register, the Board was able to freely use the information to mail its own materials to shareholders and communicate its own narrative.

¹ EWI's circular published on Dec. 23 2025 states that "The Company has appointed Georgeson (a trading name of Computershare Investor Services PLC) to liaise with Shareholders [...]."

EWI's Board Chairman Has Several Red Flags

We have serious concerns about Mr. Simpson-Dent's lack of alignment with shareholders' interests and ability to effectively oversee EWI.

Jonathan Simpson-Dent
Chairman of the Board

- Mr. Simpson-Dent previously served as CFO of HomeServe plc from 2007 to 2009 and an Executive Director of the Board of HomeServe Membership Limited from 2007 to 2009.¹ HomeServe Membership Limited was fined £30,647,400 by the Financial Conduct Authority for breaching the FCA Principles of Business from 2006 to 2011 – the highest FCA fine of a retail company in history.
- EWI failed to announce this information at the time of Mr. Simpson-Dent's appointment – in breach of the FCA's Listing Rules – and omits HomeServe from his biographies in EWI's materials and website.
- Jonathan Simpson-Dent was not only promoted to the role of Chair last year, but also received a pay increase of nearly 50% – despite EWI only generating a 6.2% NAV return over the same period.²

A listed company must notify a RIS of the following information in respect of any new director appointed to the board as soon as possible following the decision to appoint the director and in any event within five business days of the decision:

- (6) details of any public criticisms of the director by statutory or regulatory authorities (including designated professional bodies) and whether the director has ever been disqualified by a court from acting as a director of a company or from acting in the management or conduct of the affairs of any company.

HomeServe fined £30 million for widespread failings

13/02/2014

The Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) has issued its largest ever retail fine of £30,647,400 to HomeServe Membership Limited (HomeServe). The FCA found that HomeServe had serious, systemic and long running failings, extending across many key aspects of its business. In particular, during the period January 2005 to October 2011 it mis-sold insurance policies, failed to investigate complaints adequately, its Board was insufficiently engaged with compliance matters and its senior management were reluctant to address risks to customers if there was a cost implication involved.

Was Baillie Gifford aware of Mr. Simpson-Dent's role in HomeServe's "widespread failings"? Why would it appoint someone at the centre of an ethics scandal relating to retail clients?

Gregory Eckersley's Prior Tenure at Lekoil Limited Raises Questions About His Judgement

Mr. Eckersley's tenure as CFO of Lekoil Limited is littered with red flags that raise significant questions about his audit and finance expertise.

Gregory Eckersley
Newest Director of EWI

Gregory Eckersley was interim CFO of Aim-listed Lekoil Limited ("Lekoil") from May 2019 to January 2020 and a director from 2013 to 2020.¹

During his tenure, Lekoil was defrauded after paying $600,000 for a fake $184 million loan agreement with an organisation pretending to be the Qatari sovereign wealth fund.²

Despite these facts, Mr. Eckersley claims within his LinkedIn to have leveraged his "exceptional target-oriented expertise while streamlining audit and finance function" whilst at Lekoil.³

THE TIMES

Pouring oil on some troubled waters

Alistair Osborne | Tuesday January 14 2020, 12:01am GMT, The Times

As jobs for ex-government ministers go, little beats a non-exec post at an Aim outfit. So imagine Mark Simmonds' delight. A week ago, he lucked out with Lekoil, joining the board of the Nigeria-focused oil and gas outfit, apparently valued at £50 million.

And what better berth for the ex-Foreign Office minister? His two years under renowned shed-squatter David Cameron had included the brief for Africa. As Lekoil noted, Mr Simmonds even knew something about the sector, what with him being "chairman of Africa Oil Week, 'the Davos of Africa's hydrocarbon industry' ". Only without the snow.

To boot, his timing looked bang on. He'd signed up with Lekoil just four days after it had "entered into a binding loan agreement with the Qatar Investment Authority": the sovereign wealth fund happy to advance $184 million for the group to develop its interest in Nigeria's Ogo field. News of the seven-year facility, at just 3.72 per cent interest, nearly doubled the shares to 9½p.

Happy days — at least until this weekend. The Qataris questioned "the validity of the loan agreement", since when Lekoil realised there seems to have been "an attempt to defraud" the company. Moreover, it only found out after it had paid $600,000 to some outfit called Seawave Invest: the "introducer to those purporting to be the QIA". Turns out that was just a "complex façade", with Lekoil believing "none of the funding will now arrive". So it's got to find $28 million by next month for its Ogo appraisal drilling. The shares? Suspended at 9½p.

AIM-listed oil explorer Lekoil this morning had its shares suspended after individuals purporting to be investors attempted to defraud the firm with a fake loan deal.

The West Africa focused firm was approached by people it believed were representatives of the Qatari Investment Authority (QIA), which agreed a $184m loan with the company on 2 January.

The loan, which was for drilling and development work on the Ogo field off Nigeria, was agreed with Qatar's sovereign wealth fund with an annual interest rate of 3.72 per cent.

The Director Candidates Are Independent of Saba

None of the nominees have any current or former relationship with Saba that would lead them to be considered non-independent.

None of the nominees are current or former Saba employees.

The nominees are not receiving any compensation from Saba in connection with their nomination.

The nominees bring extensive investment and governance experience and are committed to maximising long-term value for all EWI shareholders.

Decisions regarding EWI's future, including the Company's manager, will be made solely by the new, independent directors – not by Saba or any other shareholder.

The Nominees Do Not Come from the Traditional, Cosy Network of UK NEDs

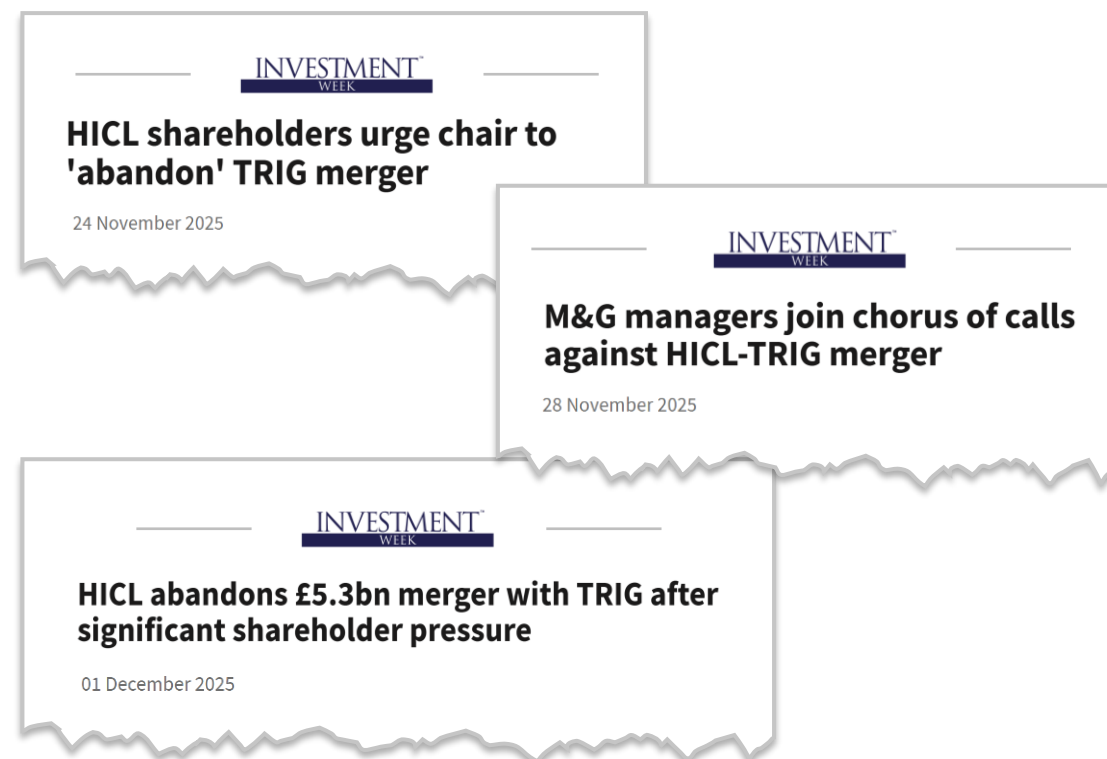

Nominee Overview: How Saba Sourced The Independent Nominees – and Why We Went Outside the UK NED Network

- Across the UK trust industry, there is a small network of repeat non-executive directors who regularly sit together on multiple trust boards.
- The entrenched system of familiarity and industry 'cosiness' often weakens accountability and contributes to persistent underperformance and double-digit discounts and drives decisions that protect the interests of managers rather than shareholders.
- To avoid these flawed dynamics, we intentionally sourced our nominees from outside the traditional UK NED network.

In contrast, the director candidates we nominated all have the independence, objectivity and deep industry experience needed to challenge each other – and the manager – in furtherance of what's best for all EWI shareholders.

Questioning Nurole's Widespread Role in UK Investment Trust Director Recruitment

- Nurole is a London-based Non-Executive Search Specialist founded by headhunter Susie Cummings.
- Nurole, which recruited Mr. Simpson-Dent to EWI, has placed more than 2,500 board directors in the UK and claims to place 1,000 Chairs, NEDs and trustees annually.¹
- As reported by the Financial Times, Nurole was enveloped in a controversy at another Baillie Gifford trust – Scottish Mortgage Trust – in 2023 for reportedly helping replace an outspoken director with a director who was perceived to be “friendlier” to the manager.
- For Baillie Gifford, Nurole reportedly recruited a director who had a personal relationship with Nurole's founder with whom she owned a ski chalet.
- This begs this question: Is it in shareholders' best interests to consistently source directors from the same UK NED network using the same recruiter?

Inside the boardroom bust-up that shook Scottish Mortgage

MAR 24 2023

Governance and oversight questions

Dowley told the FT the lack of hands-on investment management expertise was deliberate. “We don’t want people second-guessing Baillie Gifford. We want them to challenge the investment managers to examine the risk exposures whether it’s country, sector or individual positions.”

Nurole was founded in 2014 by Susie Cummings, a longtime friend of Dowley with whom she co-owns a chalet in the Swiss ski resort of Klosters. The relationship was disclosed to the Scottish Mortgage board before Nurole’s appointment. Nurole has placed about 2,500 board directors since it was set up, including 146 on investment trusts in the past five years.

Bhidé, unhappy with the process, was asked to resign. Refusing, he said he would have to be fired — and thought he had been. “Unambiguously I had been removed at the end of the meeting,” he said. After the FT reported his exit on March 17, Scottish Mortgage said the following day he remained on the board, before announcing his departure on March 21. Now the trust is “well advanced” in appointing two new directors who must help it navigate the challenges ahead.

The Nominees Will Represent ALL Shareholders

Saba has proposed three fully independent and qualified director candidates to replace EWI's current Board.

Bring impartial and experienced perspectives to the boardroom

Constantly explore all avenues to improve share price performance and maximise value
